REVERENDISSIMO PRESVLI, NECNON HONORATISSIMO DOMINO

IOANNI, DIVINA PROVIDENTIA, Episcopo Lincolniensi, & Magni Sigilli totius Angliæ Custodi.

T placuit summo Deo qui estis altiore loco nobis euecti, vt opitulemini eis qui vobis sunt inseriores. Quòd tantum dignitati tuæ, quantum multorum solatio affuturum. Non me spes præmij traxit ad dedicandum hoc opus, sed reuerendus respectus; quòd si tuæ dignitati placeat æqui bonique consulere, & meam audaciam condonare, hoc in votis maximum. In hoc opere emendando eleboraui quia vetus & valdè surdus, alteri rei minimè idoneus: adieci Etymologias Sacræ Scripturæ, Adam, Euab, Cain, Abel, Setb, cum multis alijs. Item derivationes Regionum, Vrbium, Oppidorum, Sontium, Fontium, Fluuiorum, Lacuum, Promontoriorum, Portuum, Sinuum, Insularum, Marium, Virorum, Mulierum, Deorum, Siluarum, Populorum, Speluncarum, cum alijs rebus notatu dignis. Plato, is rà insulatione, i. qui intelligit nomina, res etiam intelligit: & Isidorum, Nomina rerum si nescis, perit cognitio rerum. Si veniam his dabis, me consolaberis. Deus Opt. Max. tuam dignitatem simul & vitam diu internos conservet.

Deuise in our Common Law, is wherea man in bis testament, gruth or bequeaitheth his goods or his lands to amitter after his decease.

And where full desilie is made of goods, if the executors will not deliver the goods to the desilee, the desilee hat no remedie by the Common Law: But it behouseth him to have a Citation against the executors of the testator to appeare before the Ordinarie, to fhew why he perfumeth not the will of the restator. For the deutsee may not take the legacie, and serve bimselfe, but it must be delivered to him by the executors. It commeth from to French word Distiler, idifferent, difference, sperare, diffirence, be-caule those lands or goods which appertains to the destilour, by this all are distributed into many parts, therefore I thinke it better written distile than destile. Howbelt it were not absard to derive this word from the French deutile. However, is sore no sugar as across 100 sood prior in this fente, and deutile, if promotivari, confudual; confilium conferre. Diffeontinuance, (Difeontinuatio) Signifeth in the Com-521 (F DIREOHEMBERS, Directionated) significant and com-mon Law, solangelfe but an interruption bracking off: a discontinu-ance of polition, or discontinuance of pracelle. And the large difficult that of intelligent but show this Discontinuance is rather to from ea-fertive civil it is, or wherein it is may, then to define the thing. The effell of discontinuance of possession is this, that a man may not enter efor his owne land or tenement alienated, whatforer his right be ento it, of his contestelfe, or by his come authoritie, but must bring his writ, and serve to recover pessession by Law. Examples you may have store in his Termes of Law, verbo Discontinuance, and in & Littleton codem cap, with whom agreeth another in thefe words : But discontinuance of positession is indeed an impediment was a man for entring into his owne land or tenements, caused by the fact of one that alienated them contraretrements, tangen of neet and feet of them, whereby the true owner is left now you have been the fine them, whereby the true owner is left now you fin allow. See the $\epsilon$ New termes of Law, and the Influence of the Chull Law, cap. 43. and flee St. Edw. Cokes Report 1; the case of fines to, 85.b. The effects of discontinuance of plee is, but the influence is fallen, and may not be taken agains, but by a new is, that the inflance is fillen, and may not be taken agains, but by a new plat agin. For the beliction timed, and to bee put without day, is all ene, each mething life but finally to be difficilled the Court of that inflance. Worth parts. Simboticulo Fires, feet, 115. Dutchie Court, is a Court wherein all matters appertaining to the Dutchie of Lancaster are decided, by the decree of the Chancellour of that Court. And the original of it was in Henrie the Fourth his dairs, who obtaining the Crowne, by deposing Richard the Second, and busine the Ducchie of Lancaster by descentra the right of his Mother, hee was seized thereof, as King, and rot as Duke. So that all the Liberties, Fran-Jorda toerely, as hing, and too as Dinke. So test as the Liberties, Franchies, and luridictions of the faid Dutchie, paffed from the King, by his Grand Scale, and ni by Liuerie, or Atturnement, as the Possessions of Euerwicke, and of the Earledome of March, and substitute did, which bad defended to the King by other Ancestors than Kings. But at the last Henry the Fourth, by authoritie of Parlament, paffed a Charter, whereby the Pollestions, Liberties, &c. of the faid Dutchie were fluered from the Crowne. Yet Henry the Scuenth reduced it to his former nature, as it was Crowne, Let reury une Scuentin vanica is on promet maine, se i. pen in Henry the Fifths daies, Cromptons lurifidet, fol 156. The Officers belonging to thir Court, are the Chancellour, the Atturney, Receiter generall, Clerke of the Court, the Messenger. Beside these there be certaine Affishants of this Court, some Atturney in the Exchequer, one Atturney of the Dutchie in the Chauncerie, foure learned men in the treatment of the Dutter in the Chaumeerie, four e learned men in the Law, retirned of courfel with the King in the faid Court.
